

IDYLIC VILLAGE LIFE FOR COMMUTERS

Mulberry Place

Having a smooth transition from your work to your home life is not always an easy thing, with more and more people facing long and tedious commutes in order to find the right location. Luckily, award-winning housebuilder Appledore Developments Ltd has the perfect solution at its Mulberry Place development, in the traditional village of Brasted, in Kent. This development offers all of the benefits of living in a rural village while having great communication links and being close to larger towns where high street shops and supermarkets can be found.

Mulberry Place is an exclusive community comprising 1, four bedroom detached home and 4, three bedroom mews homes. With just a few minutes drive to the M25 and its links to London, Mulberry Place is the perfect location for families with parents who are commuting into the city. By rail, nearby Sevenoaks train station provides services to London Bridge in 25 minutes, Cannon Street in 31 minutes and London Charing Cross in 34 minutes, meaning you can enjoy the best of both worlds and come home to a rural retreat after a spending all day in the busy City.

Yvette Brotherton, Sales and Marketing Director for Appledore Developments, comments: "It's very rare to find a home offering an idyllic village lifestyle that also benefits from excellent road and rail links. But this does exist at Mulberry Place, which offers something truly unique for families. Interest has been high with now only one home remaining, so I would urge purchasers to contact our appointed selling agent James Millard as soon as possible."

Brasted offers a beautiful retreat away from the hustle and bustle of urban life, yet is also full of everyday conveniences. A coffee shop, convenience store and several picturesque family pubs can be found in the village, in addition to a Tesco's and a Waitrose around four miles away. There are regular bus services to the nearby towns of Sevenoaks and Westerham, which offer a wide variety of well-known high street brands, independent boutiques, restaurants and bars. Furthermore, families are well catered for as Brasted is in a sought after catchment area.

Price for the remaining 4 bedroom detached house is £500,000. For further information, please contact Appledore Developments on 01732 833535, or call James Millard Estate Agents on 01959 565756.
